"We feel San Diego businesses are at the forefront of the workplace excellence movement - and we wanted to recognize that with an award to a company devoted to workplace excellence," said North Island Credit Union CEO Michael Maslak. "The winner, DSD Business Systems Inc., has just this kind of commitment to its employees."

The "Excellence in Work Environment" award recognizes San Diego companies that demonstrate their commitment to workplace excellence throughout corporate practices, employee services and support programs. The award is flexible, and may apply to a single human resources initiative or to an overall human resources program. Examples of human resource initiatives include:

- Employee training and retention programs

"North Island Credit Union is proud to pay tribute to those small businesses that value employees," said Maslak. "Excellence in work environment is a great indicator of success, and those companies that strive to create such an environment will grow to be industry leaders."
